

Rating Action: Moody's assigns Counterparty Risk Ratings to 26 German banks

19 Jun 2018

Ratings are assigned following 6 June 2018 update to Moody's Banks rating methodology

Frankfurt am Main, June 19, 2018 -- Moody's Investors Service has today assigned Counterparty Risk Ratings to 26 German banks, their branches and bank subsidiaries: Aareal Bank AG, Bausparkasse Mainz AG, Bayerische Landesbank, Berlin Hyp AG, Commerzbank AG, DB Privat- und Firmenkundenbank AG, Debeka Bausparkasse AG, DekaBank Deutsche Girozentrale, Deutsche Apotheker- und Aerztebank eG, Deutsche Hypothekenbank (Actien-Gesellschaft), Deutsche Kreditbank AG, DVB Bank S.E., DZ BANK AG, HSH Nordbank AG, ING-DiBa AG, KfW IPEX-Bank GmbH, Kreissparkasse Koeln, Landesbank Baden-Wuerttemberg, Landesbank Berlin AG, Landesbank Hessen-Thuringen GZ, Landesbank Saar, Muenchener Hypothekenbank eG, Norddeutsche Landesbank GZ, Sparkasse KoelnBonn, UniCredit Bank AG and Volkswagen Bank GmbH.

Moody's Counterparty Risk Ratings (CRR) are opinions of the ability of entities to honor the uncollateralized portion of non-debt counterparty financial liabilities (CRR liabilities) and also reflect the expected financial losses in the event such liabilities are not honored. CRR liabilities typically relate to transactions with unrelated parties. Examples of CRR liabilities include the uncollateralized portion of payables arising from derivatives transactions and the uncollateralized portion of liabilities under sale and repurchase agreements. CRRs are not applicable to funding commitments or other obligations associated with covered bonds, letters of credit, guarantees, servicer and trustee obligations, and other similar obligations that arise from a bank performing its essential operating functions.

For a full list of assigned CRRs, please refer to the end of this press release.

RATINGS RATIONALE

In assigning CRRs to the banks, their subsidiaries and branches subject to this rating action, Moody's starts with the banks' Adjusted Baseline Credit Assessment (Adjusted BCA) and uses the agency's existing Advanced Loss-Given-Failure (LGF) approach that takes into account the level of subordination to CRR liabilities in the bank's balance sheet and assumes a nominal volume of such liabilities. In addition, where applicable, Moody's has incorporated the likelihood of government support for CRR liabilities.

As a result, the CRRs assigned to 19 German banks are four notches higher than their respective Adjusted BCAs, incorporating the maximum amount of three notches of LGF uplift allowed under Moody's rating methodology. For five German banks, the CRRs assigned are three notches higher than their respective Adjusted BCA's. The CRR of Debeka Bausparkasse AG is two notches higher than its Adjusted BCA and ING-DiBa AG's CRRs are one notch above the bank's Adjusted BCA.

In all cases for German banks, the CRRs assigned are equal to or higher than the rated banks' senior debt and deposit ratings. This reflects Moody's view that secured counterparties to banks typically benefit from greater protections under insolvency laws and bank resolution regimes than do senior unsecured creditors, and that this benefit is likely to extend to the unsecured portion of such secured transactions in most bank resolution regimes. Moody's believes that in many cases regulators will use their discretion to allow a bank in resolution to continue to honor its CRR liabilities or to transfer those liabilities to another party who will honor them, in part because of the greater complexity of bailing in obligations that fluctuate with market prices, and also because the regulator will typically seek to preserve much of the bank's operations as a going concern in order to maximize the value of the bank in resolution, stabilize the bank quickly, and avoid contagion within the banking system. CRR liabilities at these banking groups therefore benefit from the subordination provided by more junior liabilities, with the extent of the uplift of the CRR from the Adjusted BCA depending on the amount of subordination.

What Could Change the Rating Up

As the banks' CRRs are based on the Adjusted BCA as well as the results of Moody's Advanced LGF analysis, any upward change to the Adjusted BCA and rating uplift under the LGF analysis would likely also affect these ratings.

The banks' Adjusted BCAs could be upgraded as a consequence of a strengthening of their standalone financial fundamentals as well as higher rating uplift from affiliate support, where applicable, following a re-assessment of affiliate support assumptions and/or a strengthening of support providers' standalone financial strength.

The banks' CRRs could also experience upward pressure from movements in the loss-given-failure faced by these liabilities. Changes in the banks' liability structure, which would indicate a lower loss severity for senior creditors, could result in higher ratings uplift, unless the CRR already benefits from the maximum amount of three notches of Advanced LGF uplift allowed under Moody's rating methodology.

What Could Change the Rating Down

Likewise, as the banks' CRRs are based on the Adjusted BCA and the results of Moody's Advanced LGF analysis, any deterioration of the Adjusted BCA and lower rating uplift under the LGF analysis would likely also affect these ratings.

Downward pressure on the banks' Adjusted BCAs could develop as a result of a weakening of their and/or their affiliate support providers' standalone financial fundamentals as well as lower rating uplift from affiliate support.

The banks' CRRs could also experience downward pressure from movements in the loss-given-failure faced by these liabilities. Sustained lower volumes of subordinated liabilities, senior debt instruments, or junior deposits could result in fewer notches of rating uplift for CRRs under the Advanced LGF analysis.

Furthermore, where applicable, Moody's re-assessment of the likelihood of systemic support could reduce rating uplift and lead to downgrades of CRRs.
